

Mo-Ranch, a 500-acre camp and conference center in the Texas Hill Country, encompasses the impressive ranch properties of three oilmen. During the years 1929-1948, O.R. Seagraves, Daniel Moran and E.J. Nicklos built many distinctive structures of native limestone and then decorated these buildings in grand and tasteful styles.

- ✦ 118 pieces of early Monterey furniture and 33 Monterey lighting fixtures, primarily in Manor House
- ✦ One of the largest and most varied collections of colorful San Jose Tiles, found mostly in Nicklos Place, Guest Lodge, Loma Linda and around an outdoor pool
- ✦ Extensive and varied array of ornamental ironwork by master craftsman Erich Riesel, throughout the ranch
